The nurses' training school committee reports that we have at present six pupil nurses and a sufficient number of graduate nurses to fill our present requirements, that as soon as the nurses' home is completed we will be ready to receive applications for pupil nurses all of which must have one year high school, and all the other necessary requirements.

The building committee reports: We expected to have the nurses' home completed by February 1st but rock excavation took longer than anticipated and we were only able to finish to the first floor when the architect considered it inadvisable to proceed further on account of freezing. As soon as weather permits we will proceed again.

We have planned a fine building to accommodate 17 nurses at present, so constructed that we can add to it at any time. The estimated expenses for nurses home are as follows:

Grading	$2,000.00
General contract
Mr. Swartz	27,494.00
Reading	445.00
Architect	2,400.00
Concrete foundations	187.00
Blasting	468.00
Plumbing	6,472.00
Electrician	1,350.00
Extra labor	117.00

$40,924.00

A campaign to raise this amount has about ended. We still need $2,500.00 to complete the amount.

We are very glad to report that during the year we have received from three friends of the Sanatorium the sum of $9,250.00 for the erection of an elevator. This will also be built as soon as weather permits.

During the year we have received from the War Chest $1,375.00

From the Commissioners of Charity of the City of Kingston for city charity cases 3,000.00

We wish to express our thanks to all who have so generously given. The staff was appointed as follows:

NEWTON DEFENDS BONUS LAW

Attorney General Not Sure It Is Strictly Constitutional But Points to Overwhelming Vote of People For It—Will Uphold It in Court.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 3.—Declining to hold the soldiers' bonus law unconstitutional, Attorney General Charles D. Newton today indicated that he would consider himself under obligation to defend the statute should it be attacked in the courts.

The bonus law passed last year provides for the issuance of $45,000,000 state bonds out of the proceeds of which it is planned to pay each service man up to a certain rank $10 for each month's service up to twenty-five. There is a bill pending in the legislature providing for a commission to administer the bonus law.

The attorney general stated his views on the law in an opinion given to Benjamin S. Dean of Jamestown, N. Y., who raised the question of the constitutionality of the measure.

"I have given careful consideration to the contents of your letter of November 9, 1920, in which you contend that the soldiers' bonus law (L. 1920, C. 872) is unconstitutional and have examined the authorities you cite.

"While the position you take finds some support in the cases you refer to and I am by no means certain that you are wrong, on the other hand, I am not at all satisfied that you are right. And I regard the statute as being entirely entitled to the benefit of the doubt.

"Legislative enactments are entitled to a presumption of constitutionality and this should be doubly true in a case like the present one where the act of the legislature has been ratified by the people at the polls by an unprecedented and overwhelming majority.

"A great many of the other states are paying bonuses to their soldiers, similar to that provided for in the New York law. And, many of these states have constitutional provisions similar to our own. Yet, to the best of my knowledge, the constitutionality of none of these laws in other states has been attacked. In Massachusetts, for example, the decisions of the courts on proposed bonuses to Civil War veterans payable by localities, were similar to those of the New York courts, cited in your letter, but Massachusetts, as a state, is paying bonuses to her citizens who served in the world war.

"Neither the legislature nor the comptroller (whom it is my duty to advise as counsel) has seen fit to ask my opinion upon the question of whether payments can constitutionally be made under the terms of chapter 872 of the laws of 1920, and I do not consider it my duty to offer them unsolicited advice.

"Even if my advice on this subject were sought by a public officer or body entitled to ask it, I should be reluctant to render an opinion to the effect that a law, adopted by a majority of 781,686 votes of the people, was unconstitutional. In view of the presumption I have mentioned and the fact that it is one of my duties to support the constitutionality of statutes (Executive Law 68).

"Should the statute be attacked in the courts I would consider myself under obligation to appear and uphold it—and I certainly do not expect to take it upon myself to institute an action for the purpose of interfering with the execution of the clearly expressed will of the people."

IRISH FIGHTING MORE INTENSE

Following Execution By British Of Cornelius Murphy—Six Members Of Ambushing Party Killed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Dublin, Feb. 3.—Six Sinn Feiners were killed and a number were wounded in a desperate battle with British military policemen near Rosscarbery early today.

A large party of Republicans had ambushed two lorries filled with policemen. At the first volley from the attackers the policemen returned the fire and violent fighting ensued.

Finally the attackers were forced to retreat in disorder, leaving their dead and a number of wounded behind. The authorities did not announce the police casualties.

Sinn guerrilla warfare is raging along the "Irish front," with the Sinn Fein taking terrible revenge for the execution of Cornelius Murphy, at Cork, who was dead nearly 12 hours before any one outside of official circles even knew the nature of the sentence imposed upon him by the British court martial.

At least four policemen were killed and ten others wounded in attacks by Republicans during the 24 hours that followed the public announcement of Murphy's execution. Three others who were alleged to have assisted the British police were shot today from ambush.

Two bystanders were killed and two wounded in Dublin and Carrick-on-Suir, while military policemen were firing upon armed bands of Sinn Feiners.

A man was shot dead in Bishop street near Dublin Castle early today.

A cyclist was killed by a stray bullet while riding through Trinity street. A boy was wounded while crossing Angier street.

Soldiers and Black and Tan policemen were active throughout the night in all parts of Dublin. The death list in the attack upon Black and Tan policemen near Railhead, in County Longford, was brought up to four this morning when two of the policemen died of their wounds. Two motor cars filled with Black and Tans were ambushed and blown up with a mine that had been planted under the roadway. Two were killed outright and ten others were wounded.

Paris, Feb. 3.—Two thousand unemployed strikers the revolutionary "Internationale" attempted to march upon the city hall today but were turned back by the police.

While the Paris crowd was attempting to storm the city hall other bands of unemployed were smashing bakery shops and grocery stores in the suburbs. A large quantity of food was carried off.

WILSON SILENT IN RAIL WAGE CONTROVERSY

Not Expected to Move Until After Board Gives Decision—Men's Leaders Declare They Are Already Better Off Over Amount of Last Increase and Will Not Work If Board Decides Against Them.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The spectre of a transportation tie up is hovering over the nation today, as the result of threats to reduce railroad wages, according to labor leaders here.

Railroad workers, embittered over wage conditions, are even now threatening to leave their work, leaders here declare. While the heads of the railroad labor organizations refuse to predict a strike in the event that railroad wages are reduced, they declare the nation will face a transportation crisis and intimate that the men will simply refuse to work at reduced wages, whether their leaders want them to or not.

There has been a running of discontent in railroad labor circles for many months, as the result of the failure of the Railroad Labor Board to grant the full wage demands of the workers and the granting of increased rates to the railroads. This discontent is steadily mounting and if wages are reduced leaders here assert they will not be able to hold their men in line.

"The hardest job we have right now is to keep the men at their work," said E. C. Davidson, secretary of the International Machinists' organization today. The machinists embrace a majority of the railroad shop workers.

"The men are bitter," said Davidson. "They want to throw up their jobs and quit working low. Our task is to keep them on the job."

"I don't want to talk strike. I don't know what the men will do if wages are reduced but I do know it will be next to impossible to hold the men in line. If I were a shop worker and wages were reduced I would throw up my job right away and if necessary I would leave the state."

"The railroad men made enormous sacrifices during the war. They lived under terrible conditions but they kept the flow of supplies steadily going on. When the war was over and they saw the railroads being plundered they became bitter and they are more bitter now than ever."

"The railroads are not justified in reducing wages. Such talk as Attorney General's about the reduction of wages is a crime, and the men know it is a crime."

"The railroads were granted huge rate increases to meet the rising cost of labor. Labor has secured thirty per cent of those rate increases and the public is bearing the burden. The other 70 per cent of the increase hasn't gone to labor and the railroads have not justification for talking wage reduction."

"We have the facts. We know the conditions of the railroads. They can afford to pay five times as much for repair work done outside of their shops as they paid for it in their shops before the war and yet they talk of the need of reducing wages."

"I don't believe wages are going to be reduced. Certainly the national agreements are going to be maintained, or the men just won't work."

"I won't say there will be a strike if wages are reduced. I don't know anybody knows, but I do know this, that it is a hard job to keep the men at work right now."

W. Jett Lauck, economist of the railroad labor organizations, is understood to be preparing new facts on railroad earnings, which will be used to resist any wage reductions.

President Wilson, meanwhile, is apparently refusing to participate in the controversy that has arisen and it was indicated at the White House that he would take no action on the union's request for an investigation on possible wage reductions, until after the railroad labor board has acted finally in the matter.

GIANT BOOTLEGGER IS ARRESTED

Sergeant Ocker and Patrolman David H. Drought of the New York board of water supply police arrested this morning at Bushnellville Greene county, Mike Shulle, for bootlegging whiskey on New York city property.

JAM IN CONGRESS NEARLY HOPELESS

With Democrats Insisting on Action on Tariff and Republicans Wanting to Take Up Other Business Senate is Deadlocked and House, Too, Is in Tangle—This Session to Disappoint Hardly.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Republican leaders of the senate and house buckled down today to the difficult task of trying to restore some semblance of order from the chaotic state into which pending legislation has fallen.

The Republican steering committees of both chambers got together in the hope of being able to patch up a program that would prevent at least some of the major appropriation bills from being bequeathed to the new congress.

The seriousness of the legislative jam is giving the Republican leaders grave concern not only because of the expressed wish of President-elect Harding that all pending bills be disposed of at the present session.

Efforts to unravel the present snarl over the emergency tariff bill in the senate have thus far proved unavailing. The bill's Democratic opponents have turned the tables on the Republican leaders. From the attitude of seeking to prevent a vote on the bill with a filibuster, the Democrats have switched to one of ostensibly striving to force a vote by the middle of the month. They have blocked the Republican plan, supposed to have its culmination in the defeat of cloture, to lay the tariff measure aside for the rest of the session and take up the first of the twelve appropriation bills still pending.

The Democrats have jockeyed the Republicans into now opposing a vote, though

CHINA FAMINE
SUNDAY, FEB. 6

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 3.—Cooperation of practically every denomination in America in a national appeal for aid in behalf of the starving people of North China has been promised at church services next Sunday, according to an announcement made by the American Committee for China Famine Fund.

By joint agreement among church organizations and church leaders of all faiths next Sunday (Feb. 6) has been officially designated as "China Famine Sunday," when congregations throughout the country will hear special appeals to American church people to aid in relief measures for 15,000,000 Chinese who are facing death by starvation in the famine areas. Missionaries retired or on leave in America, who have had personal experience in China, are expected to fill some of the local pulpits, while others of the churches have enlisted the services of students studying in America to make special addresses.

Preachers throughout the country have been urged by church leaders to emphasize in their sermons the intimate appeal that the present distress in China should make to American church people, not only on account of the close traditional friendship between the United States and China, but because of the immense volume of missionary and educational work which the American churches of all denominations have for years been carrying on in the districts affected by the present famine. Much of this work, it is pointed out, vital as a force for orderly government and future progress in China, is threatened with virtual obliteration if present famine conditions are not relieved. In all it is expected that the appeal for starving China next Sunday will reach not less than 50,000,000 church-goers of America.

A Coalition Government.

To the Editor, Kingston Freeman: The head line you gave my last letter suggests the one above. We need to mix our grandfathers' faith in God, their love of truth and honor—plain living and high thinking with our own! Why not their politics?

The kindly old farmer "A man of gentle judgments," (like Charles Bullfinch) took The Freeman with a curious look—a new and untired vehicle of thought—"Gimcrack" seemed to be his favorite word for an untired invention.

When I saw him digesting the editorials as was his wont, out of curiosity I picked up the Argus and looked for that old "inside page." The "hard reading" I couldn't understand as a boy—"A public office is a public trust."—Grover Cleveland—I seemed to read it now.

That was the slogan that went around the campus of "John A. Andrews' School of Agriculture." When we picked up a magazine we read it on the face of Grover Cleveland's lieutenant, Theodore Roosevelt. It seemed to be written on the face of our drill master as we marched by him on the parade ground, and he was West Point's finest and best.

Yes, John Massfield, you cheer our hearts when you assure us that "all the company of a nation's dead come to the help of the living in a time of storm."

DANCE AT CROSSPATCH.

Holiday Events at New Community Center Near Willow.

A masquerade, supper and dance will be held on the evening of Lincoln's Birthday, February 12, at Crosspatch Community Center.

All sorts of costumes will be welcomed, especially of an original or comic character, made at home.

Mrs. Cross, during her recent stay in New York, purchased a fine orchestra for Crosspatch House. The orchestra contains a full band, including horns, cymbals and drums. It is in a handsome case and is expected to furnish a good deal of pleasure to the young people who want to dance at a nice place with their parents and friends as a part of the social gatherings.

The orchestra is expected to be in place and ready for use on Lincoln's Birthday. Everybody who wants a good time is expected to make and appear in some sort of gay costume.

No prizes will be given for hired costumes, as Crosspatch House wants its friends to have a good time without expense. A prize will be given to the lady wearing the most original costume of home make and also to the one securing the most comic effect. The two men wearing the best costumes of the above classes will be given prizes.

A committee will be appointed to judge the costumes. Four nice new dollar bills were given to Mrs. Cross, by a New York friend, for those prizes.

Several New York visitors are coming to the party, if the weather permits. They will be in costume, but not eligible for prizes.

A fine old-fashioned supper of corned beef and cabbage will be served, with cake and coffee for dessert.

Crosspatch House now has a well-equipped kitchen and the dishes to serve a party of one hundred, or even a few more, as at Christmas; but it is short of knives and forks. Friends are asked to bring their own.

IDEAL SERVANTS IN MEXICO

One May Get a Descendant of the Incas and a Friend for Life, for $15 a Month.

Mexico is Utopia for American housewives, for there is no servant problem here, according to Mrs. B. C. Tuning, wife of the chief engineer of the Transcontinental de Petrolco, the Mexican branch of the Standard Oil company.

"For years ago I could hire any servant for $2 a month," she said, "and now I have to pay only $10 to $15. Often in my kitchen I have a descendant of the Incas making my bread, and when a Mexican Indian who must not be confused with a peon really attaches himself or herself to you, you have not only a servant, but a friend for life, one who really looks after your interests."

"Of course, in Mexico, as well as anywhere else, the servants stand on their rights. The cook only cooks and does not wash dishes; the chambermaid will have nothing to do with the kitchen; but after all, the wages of the five or six servants do not equal those of one servant in New York."

"I hear my New York friends groan because the food of the servants runs more than their own table. Now, if you give your Mexican Indian her twillies (taken) and her beans with plenty of chili, she is perfectly satisfied and seems a more elaborate diet."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 3.—Business was practically at a standstill during the first 15 minutes of trading on the stock market today. Pressure was again exerted against many issues, but prices generally fluctuated within fractional limits. The tendency was to lower figures. The oil group came in for most of the selling and sustained the heaviest losses. Royal Dutch had a rapid drop of 1 1/2 to 69 3/4. Steel Common made a slight gain selling at $24, but immediately dropped back to $22. Crucible fell 3/4 to $9 and Baldwin Locomotive yielded to $7 1/4.

After the declines in the first fifteen minutes the stock market developed a steadier tone with some issues in brisk demand and showing pronounced strength. Texas Pacific Railway became prominent, advancing 3 points to 23 1/4. United States Steel Common was bought all through the first hour, having a range of from $24 to $17 1/2. Northern Pacific continued actively traded in and after yielding to 8 1/2, rallied to 8 7/8. Mexican Petroleum, which was weak in the early trading, rallied to 15 1/2. Sears Roebuck again was under pressure, declining 1 1/2 to 34 1/2.

The market tone was generally heavy in the forenoon but there were some strong features. Mexican Petroleum was brought for a time advancing over 1 point to 15 1/2, but was again under pressure after that movement and yielded to 15 1/2. Steel Common held steady at close to its final price Wednesday. Baldwin was fairly well held. Southern Pacific was again in supply and declined to 35 1/2.

The stock market closed weak today; government bonds, unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

BRIGHT DRESSES FOR WINTER

Gay and Pretty Costumes Add an Air of Cheerfulness to the Dull Days.

At the winter season dresses, brighter and prettier are the dresses that are worn, which is as it should be. A pretty bright costume is cheering on a dull gray day. For instance, an attractive brown taffeta dress, with a tucked waist of the same fabric, is made with an even effect and a belt of bright-colored ribbon. A blue taffeta dress has a waist which suggests a basket, with seams piped in silk. It is slightly shirred in at the waistline to adapt it to a girlish figure. Red wool is used to outline the neck. The skirt has six blue bands, which are sewed around at the top, but each band is left bare at the lower edge, which adds grace to the skirt. This dress could be easily made in any color.

Another blue silk dress is made with a round yoke of very blue green, with a green which extends in a band across each shoulder and down the side of the skirt. This suggests a trimmings in outlined along the edges with bright green silk cord.

A dress which combines brown velvet and brown and ivory has an exceedingly elegant effect. The latter worn with a hip-length jacket of brown velvet edged with wool cord in orange tones. The same wool cord edge forms buttonholes for wool buttons of orange color. This overblouse has satin sleeves of the velvet.

NEW NET AND LACE DRESSES

Embroidered in Color. Made Over Contrasting Foundations. Both Youthful and Attractive.

In their effort to add further novelty to the lace idea the Paris dress makers launched strange kinds of combinations. For instance, blue net dresses are trimmed with blue lace usually in an opposing shade of blue or navy blue serge with royal blue lace. Dark green velvets are combined with green lace, russet-colored brocades with rust lace, and so on through numerous combinations of clever Paris makers varies the lace idea.

Net as well as lace dresses are made in simple chemise effect. Straightline dresses of white net are bordered in color and have over contrasting foundations are both youthful and attractive.

One of the most big successes has been an orange lace dress. Models of Madeleine have repeated many times a model made in dark bottle green lace, and Callot Soreau considered their masterpiece lace the most fashionable offering of the season.

It is not unusual that lace should follow in the wake of fashions. They are, however, they are black they achieve the necessary distinction by embroidery, which may be red or copper lined.

A New Headress

This versatile finishing panel has appeared on many evening costumes recently, and the decorative possibilities have been for it a beautiful welcome.

HOT "SHOT" FOR NEIGHBOR

Probably Woman Wished She Had Not Irritated Mr. Dobson While He Was Worried.

Mr. Dobson came home early in the evening, but 17 sheets in the wind. He negotiated the steps to his front door on his hands and knees. Finally, when he reached the top, he fished his keys from his pocket without much difficulty, but the keyhole, of course, could not be found.

After several attempts to locate it, in which he failed miserably, he happened to look over his shoulder, and discovered the woman next door watching him.

"What you want?" he demanded. "I don't want anything," she replied, but didn't go away.

The man made another attempt to find the keyhole, but being again unsuccessful turned in disgust and asked the neighbor if she had borrowed the keyhole.

"Of course not. I don't know anything about your keyhole except that you can't find it," said she.

"Well, you've borrowed everything else we've got, so I thought maybe you borrowed our keyhole," came the reply.

Graded Element of Which He Sang

Edward Grieg, the Norwegian composer, who wrote of the Vikings and the great ocean, who sang, "And it was Olaf Trygvason and he sailed the north sea wide"—Grieg could never enter a boat because it made him deathly ill. Although money was a badly needed asset in the Grieg household, all the contracts at fabulous prices which American managers offered him were refused, because a boat ride would have killed the ocean-musician.—Charles D. Isaacson in Hearst's Magazine.

Video Movie Big Building

The historic Tower of London moves four times daily on the sides of the Thames river and show. The movement is most pronounced in the past century the street. The movement is due to the fact that many tons of water generate under the foundations with the river tide, which movement has the effect of moving upward the whole mass of the tower.

New John Dory Got His Spots

The dory is one of the most useful family with a highly notable ancestry. It has many peculiarities of form and color, but none more marked than the red and white spots on its sides. The doryman took it was from a dory and St. Peter took the dory with which he was the prince and that the two spots mark the place where he laid the 6th between his thumb and finger.

What Every American Should Know About His Country and Its Opportunities

Fred D. Underwood, President of the Erie Railroad, began his career as a brakeman.

THE railroads furnish many examples of the opportunities under the Constitution which American industries offer to the average man to climb to responsible executive positions. Fred D. Underwood began as a railroad clerk and brakeman, from which point he worked his way up to the Presidency of the Erie Railroad, President of the Pennsylvania & Ohio, and the New York Central & Hudson, was an assistant in various capacities at 19; W. H. Truesdale, a clerk at 18, is now President of the Lackawanna; Alfred H. Smith, who began as a messenger boy in 1873 and later became foreman of a bridge building crew, is now President of the New York Central; G. W. Stevens who began as a telegrapher, is now President of the Chesapeake & Ohio; L. E. Johnson, a man at 20, now Chairman of the Board of the Norfolk & Western; J. A. Kristiansen, an immigrant at 24, now Chairman of the Board of the Southern Pacific; J. Edgar Hoover, a clerk at 25, is now Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; and many others. The list is long, and it is a fair statement to say that the railroads have been the great training ground for the nation's leaders. The railroads have been the great training ground for the nation's leaders. The railroads have been the great training ground for the nation's leaders.

ROADS TO MEET CONDITIONS.

Political-legislative incapacity to comprehend or deal with business problems is indicated in studies where legislation is being enacted unduly restricting the size of motor trucks. The motor truck has become just as important an element of commercial and industrial life as the railroad, but some people are slow to comprehend that fact. They realize that the automobile is an important part of every day life in the United States but their minds confine motor car operations to pleasure cars or taxicabs.

Motor truck development has not been as rapid as that of the pleasure car. Only about 700,000 motor trucks are used in the entire United States but the damage to highways resulting from their operation gives the impression that their number is larger. However, the fact that 700,000 motor trucks have become an integral part of our transportation system cannot be ignored. It is therefore interesting to compare restrictive legislation affecting the motor truck with railroad development up to the recent period of government control.

Development of the primitive locomotive and passenger coaches quickly made apparent the necessity of discarding iron-covered wooden rails and substituting rails of solid iron. Further improvement of rolling stock could not be made without further increasing its weight, which required heavier steel rails and more solid foundations. But in highway construction the development and improvement of the foundation has not kept pace with the increased weight of the surface-carrier, as in the case of the railroads. The foundation of improved highways in most cases is not any firmer or more solid than it was when in the infancy of good roads the only necessity was a highway suitable for farm and market wagons; although present construction is more expensive, but little more attention has been given to drainage, weak subsoils and frost action, to which it has been shown by recent research seventy per cent of all road failures are due.

In spite of high-sounding talk, improved highways are constructed primarily for the pleasure car, but the greatest wear results from motor truck operation. While the motor truck is helping solve the transportation problem not only in territory where railroad construction would not pay for itself in many years but also in territory enjoying railroad facilities by handling the expensive short hauls, the taxpaying public which benefits by its operation is being penalized because short-sighted near-engineers and politicians do not keep pace with industrial and commercial development.

Contractors are satisfied with present construction because it assures them future work. Plans calling for uniformity of foundation regardless of local conditions are entirely satisfactory to them because if additional foundation is specified later, they reap a big benefit in the form of expensive "extras." Road building should be an engineering and not a contractor's job, but it is not. Commercial and industrial development affecting the entire population should have first consideration in highway improvement, but does not get it. Where does the fault lie?

AMERICAN ILLITERACY.

It is surprising to learn that there are eight nations with less literacy in proportion to population than the United States, which ranks ninth. Such is the showing of the House Committee on Education which in its report to Congress recommends the passage of the Smith-Towner bill to establish a Federal Department of Education and grant Federal aid to the states to support elementary schools. It seems that Pennsylvania, for example, has 118,000 illiterates; New York, 106,000; Illinois, 100,000; and Ohio, 121,000. Presumably such figures for northern states are to be fairly accounted for by the admission of so many illiterate immigrants before the literacy test was provided. Georgia is given 229,000 illiterates; Alabama, 352,000; Louisiana, 352,000 and Mississippi, 290,000. Presumably this greater proportionate illiteracy for the less densely populated south is partly due to the fact that the bulk of the negro population is found in that section.

In former times it would have been contended, and properly so, that the states should look after their own illiterates. But it is the fashion in these days to shift as many burdens as possible upon the broad and crowded shoulders of the Federal government, and doubtless the Smith-Towner bill, with the increased taxation involved, will become a part of the Federal law. In that case, however, no self-respecting state will be released from obligation in the matter, and all the states should continue and even add to the work they are now doing in the interest of popular education.

DAIRY LEAGUE NOW IN UTICA

The Dairymen's League moved its offices during the first week in February from 302 Fifth avenue, New York city, to the Dairymen's League Building, Utica, N. Y., and is now busy in its new headquarters, with a large force handling the correspondence and business of 90,000 farmers. The executive committee of the league will hold most of its sessions at the new headquarters and all of the departments and clerks will be quartered in the new building, with the exception of a cooperative sales office, the contract department, and a Dairymen's League news advertising office, which will still retain offices in New York city.

In addition to the executive committee among the men and departments operating here from the new headquarters at Utica will be the legal department in charge of J. J. Miller; the secretary's department in charge of Albert Manning; the treasurer's department, headed by Bruce M. Kilpatrick; the cooperative department in charge of W. W. Hovey; department of organization, in charge of T. E. Millman, and the Dairymen's League News, headed by E. R. Eastman.

All mail for the Dairymen's League, except that which relates to contracts and relations with dealers, should be directed to the Utica office. That which has to do with the milk dealers should be addressed to the Dairymen's League, 302 Fifth avenue, New York.

RADICALS FAN INDIAN SEDITION

Mr. Michael O'Dwyer, former Governor of the Punjab, Utters Word of Warning and America's Rigorous Measures Must be Taken to Curb Agitators Who, With Enormous Funds at Their Command, are Carrying on a Campaign of Dangerous Propaganda.

By Telegram to The Freeman, London, Feb. 2.—"Extremists are setting India ablaze."

"The time for toying with sedition in this vast empire is passed."

"The law must be rigorously and impartially applied."

"Sedition is being preached throughout the country and unless the authorities wake up the fire will gain such control that it will be almost impossible to subdue it."

"These are but a few of the startling statements made by Sir Michael O'Dwyer, former governor of the Punjab, in a series of articles he has written on Indian unrest for a prominent London newspaper."

"Of the three hundred millions in India not 1 per cent have any knowledge of English and only 6 per cent can write their name in any language," is another of O'Dwyer's assertions.

"The agitators with enormous funds are carrying on their propaganda. Some of them being in the pay of foreign governments; while on the other side, the government, which is now paralyzed by the Indian members, is helpless, as it does not possess strong men at the helm."

"The extremists are saying that they will make our rule in India impossible, which is quite within their power," is an extract given by O'Dwyer from a letter of a European planter, which adds: "I would prefer to live in a purely native state than in India, supposed to be governed by us, but in reality governed by extremist agitators."

Gandhi is the man to whom the Anglo-Indians point as the main cause of the unrest in India at the present moment and O'Dwyer denounces him as a "scheming, revolutionary fanatic."

"It can be stated with certainty that the present extremist movement is heading straight for the disorganization of trade and commerce and for the ruin of every British interest. It is anarchy and rebellion and the only way to meet it and break this movement is to enforce the law, irrespective of persons, class or caste," continues O'Dwyer.

"All those who are heading the revolutionary conspiracy—Gandhi, the All brothers and Sagpat Rai—should be dealt with under the law before it is too late."

"The masses of the Indian population expect, and they have a right to expect, a just and firm government which will maintain order and promote prosperity. Now they see order and prosperity seriously threatened and are at a loss to understand how such things can be. They are being slowly alienated, for Gandhi's latest program is mainly addressed to the simple and credulous classes."

Sir Charles MeLeod, senior partner of the firm of MeLeod & Company, of Calcutta, Bombay and New York, adds his voice to the demand for the suppression of Gandhi.

MeLeod has spent many years of his life in India. He was for thirty years in Bengal and is now chairman of the East Indian section of the London Chamber of Commerce. He says:

"Gandhi and all his kind ought to have been put under lock and key long since. This is not only my private opinion of the arch agitator and all his works; it is the opinion of the Indian trading community itself."

"The Indian merchant doesn't want politics that are going to ruin his business. The Gandhis are out for nothing but their own hand, and the Indian merchant knows it."

Why Many Women Have no Appetite for a Meal They Themselves Have Cooked

Smoke and odor of cooking with lard and other animal fat destroy appetite

MOST women never enjoy a meal they themselves have cooked, because the odors of lard—fried in lard and other animal fats—"take the edge off the appetite." They sit down to the table and eat only a fraction as much as they should eat.

Besides, these odors penetrate the house in a most disagreeable way, causing embarrassment to the refined housekeeper, and much annoyance to the neighbors.

Cooking Odors Prevented by Modern Methods

Modern housewives are almost entirely overcoming this. They use Mazola—the New American Salad and Cooking Oil—instead of old-fashioned lard and other animal fats.

Women who cook the new way sit down to the table and enjoy their food. Mazola doesn't smoke easily—it can be heated so hot without burning that it crusts over the surfaces of the food, and prevents the odors from arising. This keeps flavors in the food, making it richer, better tasting, more nutritious and digestible.

No Ban on Fish or Onions

You can fry fish or onions in Mazola, and the odor will hardly be noticeable in the next room.

So complete is this sealing effect, that even after you fry fish or onions in Mazola, you can use the same lot for shortening the most delicately flavored cake, or the crispest, most delicious pastry—without carrying the least suspicion of odor from one food to the other. This is another reason why Mazola is so much more economical. You can use it over and over again—until the last drop is gone.

The Health-Giving Salad—with Mazola

Mazola is relished by the best judges of salad oil everywhere for its wonderful richness and purity. It equals in flavor the finest imported Italian olive oils—and at only about half the cost.

Many prefer it to the finest olive oil—as it blends more perfectly with other ingredients, making a firmer, smoother dressing, that keeps for weeks without separating.

Mazola is sold in pint, quart, half-gallon and gallon cans. At all grocers.

THE "BUREAU OF MINES" BULLETIN NO. 242, STATES WHY COKE SHOULD BE BURNED

Coke should be used for heating houses because it is a clean and convenient fuel. It eliminates smoke, reduces the necessity of cleaning the furnace and flues, requires less attention than coal, and gives a more uniform temperature in the house. By burning coke for domestic heating, more soft coal will be used in by-product plants, which save many valuable by-products that are wasted when the coal is used directly in the raw state. The by-products of popular interest obtained in the cooking process are gas, light oils, ammonia and tar.

WE FURTHER STATE

A ton of Gas Coke is not only practically 50% greater in volume than a ton of soft coal and hence much easier to handle, but the ash residue is only 10% in place of 20 to 30% as found in much of the coal on the market today.

MANY "BUDDIES" STILL MISSING

Many Cases of Strange Disappearances Remain Unexplained and Relatives Seek Information of Loved Ones.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 3.—While his buddies in the One Hundred and Thirty-eighth Infantry marched on through the streets of New York in a triumphal parade after their return from France, John Hughes was forced to fall out of line because of illness. That is the last time he was seen by his friends. He enlisted from St. Louis, although his home is in England. Information about him is wanted by Mrs. C. J. Pettie, 305 South Poplar street, Wichita, Kan.

In realization that there are thousands of similar mysteries of the war, this newspaper publishes this and other cases with a view of obtaining information for relatives and friends of veterans of the world war. The information has been requested in letters to the American Legion Weekly.

Similar cases are John H. Earline, a member of Company C, One Hundred and Seventeenth Infantry, listed by war department as a deserter. However, William W. Baker, of his company, makes affidavit that he and Earline were wounded in the St. Mihiel sector on November 4. Baker, who was captured by the enemy, wears a stretcher he saw Earline lying on the ground seriously wounded. Earline has not been heard from since October, 1918, and his father desires information regarding his fate to clear his good name and to make claim for his insurance. Address S. F. Earline, Louisville, W. Va.

Joseph S. Brewster, second lieutenant, Company F, Fifty-ninth Infantry, was reported killed in action on July 30, 1918, but other reports say he died on July 20. Information regarding his death and burial is wanted by his brother, Virgil S. Brewster, Esom Hill, Ga.

Edgar H. English, private, Seventh-third Company, Sixth Marines, was reported killed in action on November 1, 1918, later message said he was seen on November 10, 1918. His sister, Mrs. Fred E. Ryan, St. Mary's, W. Va., seeks any information.

Charles E. Moss, private, Company K, One Hundred and Twelfth Infantry, was reported killed in action at Fismette on August 24, 1918. All efforts to locate grave unavailing. Buddies who know nature of his death and place of burial are asked to communicate with Charles L. Ralston, Charles B. Gillespie Post, American Legion, Freeport, Pa.

Leon Burr, Three Hundred and Eighty Infantry Band, was reported dead in France on October 14, 1918. Later message said he was in a hospital in Louisiana and was known there, but he was not located. Information concerning him should be sent to Mrs. Etta Burr, 198 Oakwood avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

Teddy Roth, private, Company F, Second Ammunition Train, reported killed in action on October 9. Seen on the rear end of an ambulance, apparently wounded, on October 7. Red Cross reported him in a base hospital on October 7 and later in a base hospital number unknown. His mother, Mrs. Fred Roth, Route 1, Box 18, Ellenville, Ill., desires authentic details.

CONDENSED CLASSICS

WAVERLEY

By SIR WALTER SCOTT

Condensation by Henry T. Schmitt, Ph. D.

The majority of Sir Walter Scott's novels were published anonymously. "Waverley" appeared in 1814, and not until 1827 was it generally acknowledged that Scott was the author of "The Waverley Novels." A few Edinburgh friends were always in the secret and year by year the circle of those who knew the secret grew. But to thousands and thousands of readers, the author remained "The Great Unknown." Even those who actually knew Scott to be the author were sometimes puzzled. He had carried law duties which he did not scrupulously neglect, and then some of his best work was done in his spare time. He was a man of many articles and reviews that it seemed incredible that he could find time for anything else.

The explanation lay in Scott's ability to concentrate. He knew what he wanted to say and he spent little time hunting for phrases or polishing his sentences. There is a familiar anecdote of a visitor to Edinburgh, dining with convivial friends and looking out of a window at a hand which went back and forth, back and forth, across sheets of paper. "It never stops," said his host. "It is in the same every night." The visitor suggested that it was perhaps a different clerk. "No, boys," he replied, "I will know whose hand it is—Sir Walter Scott." Sometimes Scott was so excited by plot that he could not write. "The Bride of Lammermoor" and "Ivanhoe" were dictated while the author was suffering so intensely from cramps that between sentences he screamed aloud in agony. But when he was asked to stop and rest, he answered, "Stay, Willie, only see that the doors are shut."

LET us for a few thrilling minutes transport ourselves to Scotland in 1745, when its Highland forests teemed with the caves of robbers and its moors resounded with the shouting of the chieftains as they battled to restore the exiled house of Stuart to the throne, then occupied by King George II.

Are you ready? Then let us join the handsome young English officer, Edward Waverley. He is about to visit the cavern of the Highland robber, Donald Bean Lean, little dreaming of the mass of adventures into which this visit will lead him. Waverley is enjoying a furlough at the Scottish Lowland mansion of the eccentric, garrulous and lovable baron of Bradwardine. The baron's seventeen-year-old daughter, Rose Bradwardine, with a profusion of hair of pale gold, and a skin like the snow of her own mountain in whiteness, has fallen in love with Waverley, who, however, finds her tender attentions too tame for his poetic imagination. It is his ambition to explore the wild regions of romance, and fortunately an opportunity presents itself. The baron's cattle, having been stolen by the robber Donald Bean Lean, are restored through the interposition of the baron's friend, the powerful Highland chieftain, Fergus MacIvor. The chieftain's lieutenant, Evan Dhu Maccombich, invites Waverley to visit Donald Bean Lean's den. After a journey throughout Lowland glen and brae, over Highland lake and forest, they arrive at the cavern, where Waverley spends an interesting night in the presence of Donald Bean Lean and his company of robbers, who come singly or in groups, each carrying with him a slice of flesh from a carcass suspended in the cave, broiling the steak and washing it down with draughts of undiluted whisky. A burly Highland lass, the robber's daughter, takes care of this romantic feast.

The next morning Evan Dhu Maccombich induces Waverley to visit the Highland mansion of his master, Fergus MacIvor, whose handsome face "resembles a smiling summer's day in which, however, one can detect signs that it may thunder and lighten before evening." His love for his beautiful and accomplished sister, Flora MacIvor, is equalled only by his ambition to restore the exiled Stuart family to the throne.

Fergus entertains Waverley at a picturesque banquet attended by hundreds of the clansmen of MacIvor. After the banquet Flora asks Waverley to meet her in her favorite haunt near a cascade. As Edward approached the waterfall, "the sun, now sleeping in the west, seemed to add more than human brilliancy to the full expressive darkness of Flora's eyes. Edward thought he had never, even in his wildest dreams, imagined a picture of such exquisite loveliness."

Conscious of her charms in this "Eden in the wilderness," Flora sings to him a stirring martial song which she accompanies on a small Scottish harp, the melody blending harmoniously with the sound of the waters of the cascade. Waverley, bewitched by her loveliness, proposes to Flora, who promptly rejects him.

Disappointed, but not discouraged, Waverley gladly accepts an invitation to remain at Fergus MacIvor's mansion for a few days. While attending a stag-hunt he sustains an injury which keeps him in bed for some time. On his recovery he is both astonished and humiliated to learn that the colonel of his regiment has refused him the rank of lieutenant without leave. His anger is aggravated by a letter from his father who, through a political squabble, has lost a high position in the court of King George. At the same time, Evan Dhu Maccombich writes to him that his father, the baron, has been obliged to flee in order to escape arrest for his adherence to the cause of the exiled Stuart.

Despite these apparent acts of injustice Waverley remains loyal to King George and desires to return home. On the way to England, however, he is arrested and charged with desertion and treason. Knowing himself to be innocent, he is mystified at this turn of affairs. What plot has been hatched against him and by whom? His stupefaction increases when he is rescued by a band of Highlanders. Who are these Highlanders? And why do they interest themselves in him? These and similar questions perplex his bewildered senses.

rested and charged with desertion and treason. Knowing himself to be innocent, he is mystified at this turn of affairs. What plot has been hatched against him and by whom? His stupefaction increases when he is rescued by a band of Highlanders. Who are these Highlanders? And why do they interest themselves in him? These and similar questions perplex his bewildered senses.

Wounded during the rescue, he is nursed back to health in a peasant's hut by a young girl, who always manages to make her escape whenever he tries to catch a glimpse of her. When his health is restored the Highlanders take him to Edinburgh, where he meets his friends, Fergus MacIvor and the baron of Bradwardine, among the insurgents who are making an attempt to recover the throne for their gallant leader, the exiled Prince Charles Edward. Waverley now feels compelled to join this army.

Just before enlisting, Waverley tries once more to win Flora's love, but is again repulsed. He therefore throws himself heart and soul into the cause of the young prince.

The army is about to engage in its first battle. The sun has just risen. The rocks, and the very sky itself, "resound with the clang of the bagpipes. The mountaineers rouse themselves with the hum and bustle of a multitude of bees, armed and ready to swarm out of their hives."

The insurgents win the battle and Waverley captures a brave English officer, who remains alive beside his cannon after the others have fled. This officer turns out to be a certain Colonel Talbot, an old friend of the house of Waverley, whom Edward has never met before. Colonel Talbot has left an invalid wife in order to find Waverley and to induce him to return home, since his conduct has put the entire Waverley family in danger.

When Edward learns that Colonel Talbot's engagement is likely to cost the life of his sick wife he obtains the colonel's release. In return for this kindness Colonel Talbot promises to intercede with the English king in Waverley's behalf. The way for such a plea has fortunately been paved by the resolution of some of the mysteries attending the arrest of Waverley for desertion and treason. By means of a packet of letters, which Donald Bean Lean's daughter had slipped into Edward's baggage, he learns that her father, the Highland robber, being in the service of Prince Charles Edward, and wishing to gain favor in his eyes, has connected a plot whereby the British government was led to believe that Waverley was a traitor, thereby forcing him into the army of the insurgent prince. Only one question now remains unexplained. Who was the girl that nursed him during his fever in the peasant's hut?

Before the solution is found to this question, the insurgent army is totally defeated. Fergus MacIvor is captured, the prince escapes, and Waverley, who is now also a fugitive, pays a secret visit to the mansion of the Baron of Bradwardine, for he is anxious to learn about the fate of some of his friends. He finds the baron in hiding in that "self-same" hut where he had been nursed during his fever. Here he learns that it was Rose Bradwardine who nursed him. It was Rose, also, who had paid Donald Bean Lean with her mother's jewelry in order to induce him to rescue Waverley after his arrest for treason. Overcome with gratitude for such devotion, Edward asks the baron of Bradwardine for his daughter's hand. He can now marry her in security; for, thanks to the kindness of Colonel Talbot and other influential Englishmen, both he and the baron have been pardoned.

It takes the legions hours on hour to tell Rose of Edward's love for her. It takes Edward just five minutes to convince her of it.

Their happiness would now be complete but for the sad fate of Fergus MacIvor, who has been condemned to death. He faces the executioner unflinchingly, expressing no regret for his fate, but only the hope that "they will see my head on the Scotch gate, that I may look, even after death, to the blue hills of my own country, which I love so dearly."

With this shadow to mar the sunshine of their happiness, Edward and Rose are married.

Thus we come to the end of the romantic tale, and we must again return to the drab reality of our every-day existence. But before we doing let us, in company with Flora MacIvor, who has joined the Scottish Brigade, arrive in Paris, bid the happy couple good luck and adieu!

Peter and Paul Were in Rome. According to the evidence and discoveries of two famous archaeologists of Rome, Professors Grossi Condi and Orazio Marucchi, there no longer remains any doubt that the Apostles Peter and Paul both went to Rome and suffered martyrdom there.

That doubt has been raised several times in controversies between various schools of archaeologists.

"The Apostles Peter and Paul," professor Marucchi said, "old go to Rome. I have found traces of their burial in a catacomb hewn out of the rock on the Appian Way, behind the ancient church of St. Sebastian."

There are graves in this underground burying place, which of course prove nothing. But there are also writings on the wall, and these writings all invoke the aid of Peter and Paul, described as lying there."

DECISION HITS ROAD CONTRACTORS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 2.—Contractors stand to lose millions of dollars if a decision given Wednesday by the State Court of Claims is upheld by the higher courts. An immediate appeal is expected. The court declared unconstitutional the Knight law of 1919, which gave to highway contractors, who lost money because of the rising costs of material and labor during the war, the right to collect from the state. The law appropriated $2,000,000 to pay claims allowed, and last year an additional appropriation of $4,000,000 was made.

The prevailing opinions were written by Judge Ackerson and Morris, who held the law violated the constitution in that it added and allowed private claims against the state and that it granted extra compensation to a contractor. Judge Smith dissented on the ground that the law did not "in terms" have that effect.

The same question is involved in the Walters law of 1918, enacted to relieve highway contractors in New York, and, in fact, all those who had public contracts, municipal or state, during the war and lost money on them. Scores of claims authorized under these two laws are now pending in the State Court of Claims. The case on which Wednesday's decision was made was that of the Dale Engineering Company of Utica, which claimed a deficit of $27,405 on a highway contract.

SIMONS'S PROTEST IS DISCOUNTED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 3.—There is an optimistic feeling in British official circles that a satisfactory solution will be reached on the indemnity question, despite the furor of resentment aroused in Germany over the amount imposed by the Allies, said the diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Telegraph today.

The pronouncement of Dr. Simons, the German foreign minister that the sum of indemnity fixed by the Allies was unsatisfactory, was discounted in advance in official circles, declared the correspondent. He continued:

"It is understood that no German counter proposals will be considered unless they are clearly relevant to the Allied demands for $24,000,000,000, gold marks, and an additional 100,000,000 gold marks for the value of German exports; these demands must form the basis of all future discussions with Germany."

The writer recalled that Charles Bergmann, the German delegate in Paris, made an unfavorable impression once before upon the Allies when he opposed the Allies' request to cross examine German experts at Brussels upon information they had written into the Allies' questionnaire. It is reported from Paris that the economic conference of the Allied and German experts at Brussels, which was to have been resumed next Monday will be postponed.

A Genuine Ulster Gazette.

Letter Carrier Clifford Wheeler has a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, printed in Kingston by Samuel Freer and Son, of date of October 12, 1799, that is in an excellent state of preservation. It is not a facsimile similar to thousands of copies of the Ulster County Gazette dated January 4, 1800, that contained an error at the death of George Washington, of which at frequent intervals some one carries to The Freeman stating the ownership of a copy which they think is one of the original regular issues, but is one of the fake issue of 1876 for sale at the Philadelphia Centennial.

Trinity's Chicken Pie Dinner.

The women of Trinity Church are planning another of their famous chicken pie dinners to be held Friday, February 11, from 5 to 8. The menu will be as follows: Chicken pie, mashed potatoes, home canned green beans, celery, cranberries, cabbage, salad, cake and ice cream. It is not necessary to go further in detail as the women have made a reputation along this line that always insures a large patronage and a satisfactory dinner.

K. OF C. BALL AN IMMENSE SUCCESS

Over 2,000 Tickets Taken at Ball and Armory is Crowded—Entertainment of Exceptionally High Order.

It would seem that the good natured rivalry over Kingston's various charity balls was proving of the greatest benefit to the institutions for which the balls are given, for each one seems to draw a bigger crowd than its predecessor. At the Knights of Columbus ball Wednesday evening considerably over three thousand tickets were taken in at the door, and that means a record breaking crowd, showing the immense popularity of the Knights themselves, and the generosity with which they distribute their charity fund. In spite of every effort on the part of the most efficient and hospitable committee, it was impossible to unearth from even the remotest corners of the armory a sufficient number of seats so that all of the ladies, let alone a great many men could be seated for the entertainment, which was of an exceedingly high class order. Early in the evening the lower booth was quite sold out, and it was not long before the cigar booth met a like fate, while those in charge of the punch and the supper room should be congratulated upon their prophetic vision as to the size of the crowd, else the refreshments which were most excellent must have fallen short. The tables were most attractive with their decorations of potted, full-blooming clematis.

Music which the dancers seemed to greatly enjoy was furnished by Balfe's and Shurter's orchestras, and during the concert which preceded the general dancing both orchestras were again and again enthusiastically applauded.

While during the early hours of dancing the great floor was really too crowded for the free movement of the dancers, they presented a brilliant picture as the many-colored and pretty evening gowns of the young women—and today all women are young—flashed past the observer in kaleidoscopic variety.

To M. H. Diamond, formerly of Kingston, now of New York is due the applause and appreciation of that great gathering of people for the splendid character of the entertainment, for through his agency Miss Louise Mayo, the Broadway prima donna of popular songs, appeared first on the program. Her powerful yet pleasing soprano voice filled the vast auditorium as she sang a group of three enjoyable songs: "Your Eyes that Told Me So," "Japanese Band Man," and "My Hero," from "The Chocolate Soldier," and she was given round after round of applause.

Then there was given a remarkable exhibition of folk dancing by three Russian dancers in native costume, these dancers being members of the "Imperial Russian Dancers." They, too, were given the warmest applause.

But "The man of the hour," was John O'Malley, the noted Irish tenor, who delighted his audience, with his charming tenor voice, his graceful manner and the art with which he sang, first "An Irish Medley," then "Mother Mashree." These were followed, in response to the vociferous applause by "Laddie Buck of Mine," and "Feather Your Nest." Finally, by special request, he sang splendidly the Hebrew song in Hebrew, "Bibi Eini," and left the stage followed by continuing applause.

Certainly the Knights of Columbus of this city, especially the men who were on the committees having the ball in charge are to be most heartily congratulated upon the immense success in every way of the entire affair.

For Beauty's Sake

Remove that film-coat from your teeth

Teeth cannot gleam with a film-coat on them. You who want white teeth must learn how to remove it.

This week your druggist offers—free—a new way of teeth cleaning. Millions now employ it. Leading dentists everywhere advise it. Go make that test. One week's results will be a revelation.

Film—the great enemy

But this is more than a beauty question. Film ruins millions of teeth. Most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste cannot eat it, so the tooth brush has left much of it intact.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of gums bleed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles have been constantly increasing, because brushing failed to eat that film.

Now a new dental era

Dental science, after years of research, has found ways to combat film day by day. The methods have been proved efficient by many careful tests. High authorities endorse them. And millions of people now employ them, largely by dental advice.

These methods are combined in a tooth paste called Pepsodent. Together they combat the film as nothing else has done. And they are fast bringing, the world over, a new era in teeth cleaning.

That is the tooth paste you are urged to test. See the instant results—watch the effects for ten days. Then decide for yourself between the old ways and the new.

The unique effects

One ingredient of Pepsodent is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva to digest starch deposits that cling. The alkalinity of the saliva is multiplied also. That to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

The Pepsodent effects come with every application. Day by day they fight the tooth's great enemies. And teeth are protected as they never were before.

See and feel it act

Present this coupon for the 10-Day Test. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.

The results are quick and apparent. A little book tells the reasons for them. For your own sake learn how much they mean.

FREE

This week only

At any drug store named below, a 10-day tube of Pepsodent. Simply present the coupon. Let this new way prove itself. Judge by results what it means to you. Learn now the way that millions know to whiter, safer teeth.

Now daily used by millions

Millions of people are now using Pepsodent. You can see the results wherever you look—in gleaming teeth.

Women who think their teeth white now should see how they look with the film gone.

With men who smoke the film are apt to be particularly discolored. They will see the most conspicuous results.

But children need Pepsodent most. Their teeth are most subject to decay. Dentists advise that Pepsodent be daily applied from the time the first tooth appears. It may save sharp troubles life-long in effect.

QUEER EXPENSES OF CONGRESS

Representatives from Congress find of House show wide variety. Including Member's Hotel, Mrs. O'Brien, a baby ring, a "Kalamazoo Ice Blanket," Christmas Cards, expensive Caskets, and plenty of Tuxedos and Soap at $1.50 per cake.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
 Washington, Feb. 2.—The needs of Congress are many, running from powder puff boxes and metal egg crates on up to mahogany desks.

The annual report of the clerk of the house of representatives just made public shows a wide variety of expenditures from the contingent fund of the house. No record is given to show for whom the expenditures were made or whether the expenditures were reimbursed. Although, of course, it must be presumed that they were.

Some of the contingent fund expenditures were as follows: One box party invitations, $0.45; one dozen No. 4 hornet cards, $2.75; manicure set No. CD7897, $5.40; two "From Me to You" calendars, $1.60; one puff box, $1.50; three 2-dozen metal egg crates, $2.55; one icy-hot thermometer bottle, $4.20; two "Some One Like You" books, $1.00; one jewel case, $3.30; one watch bracelet, $22.50; one baby ring, $1.50; one silver locket, $4.50.

Need Alarm Clocks.
 Evidently congress found it difficult to awaken last winter, for the report shows that on March 18 twelve alarm clocks were purchased for $21, and this purchase was followed a month later by another purchase of twenty-four more alarm clocks.

One warm August day, the report shows, it became necessary to purchase one "Kalamazoo Ice Blanket." The refunding of the clerk's office cost considerable, for there were two rugs purchased at a cost of $507, but that was a minor expenditure compared to the $1,333.35 spent for a rug for the house lobby. The majority leader's room secured a rug at a cost of $410.10.

At least congress keeps clean, for there were twelve dozen bath towels purchased for $126. And when congress bathes it is an affair of luxury that rivals the baths of famous old Egyptian queens, for the report shows that on July 16 there were purchased eight bars of soap at $1.50 a bar and ten bars of soap at $1 a bar.

Nearly every voter must have received a Christmas card, for the report shows that huge numbers of Christmas cards were purchased from the contingent fund.

The high cost of speaking is reflected in the report. Congressmen mail their speeches to their constituents and expert folders are hired to prepare the speeches for mailing. Fifteen pages of the report are filled with expenditures for folding speeches, a fair example of these expenditures being a payment of $124.50 to Arthur T. McAvoy for folding 128,000 speeches during March, 1920. On June 22 there was paid out $40.50 for six barrels of paste used in mailing speeches.

When a member of congress dies it is also costly. The report shows that it is customary to spend $380 for a casket for a deceased member and the expenses of the burial party run rather high.

Investigation cost congress a great deal. Representative James A. Frear received $2,500 for expenses incidental to a trip made by a subcommittee investigating aviation between August 10 and October 1, 1919. This was but one of hundreds of expense bills paid for members of investigating committees and special investigators.

A perusal of the report is convincing that the cost of legislation comes high.

Real Meaning of Old Saying. The Englishman's notion of the phrase has changed in old times in a peculiar fashion. Our forefathers were wont to declare that a person was "as good as an ass." This has now become "assure" and our people thought it was something to do with a manufacturer of hats. As a matter of fact the original "assure" meant "tattle."

EXPLAINS SCIENCE OF DR. STILL

The Rotary Club speaker at the weekly luncheon on Wednesday was Dr. George A. Warren, whose talk was on osteopathy, which he defined and explained as follows:

The underlying principle of osteopathy was discovered in 1874 by Andrew T. Still, then a practicing physician in Kansas.

Dr. Still spent eighteen years in developing the new science, and in putting its principles into practice in the treatment of both acute and chronic diseases. So the American School of Osteopathy was incorporated and located at Kirksville, Mo., in 1892.

Osteopathy is a science of drugless healing, based upon the principle that the body has been endowed by nature with all the materials, fluids and forces necessary for the preservation of health and recovery from disease, providing the food supply is adequate and that the mechanism which produces and distributes the body's fluids and forces is in perfect mechanical adjustment.

The treatment of disease has for many centuries been a great mystery; the time was when blood-letting was a treatment almost as universal as the use of drugs is now.

In the treatment of osteopathy there is no mystery. By a thorough knowledge of anatomy and physiology, and by the application of scientific manipulations in connection with which the operating physician mechanically uses and applies inherent resources of the organism to overcome disease and establish health by removing or correcting mechanical disorders and thus permitting nature to recuperate the diseased part.

The best system of healing is that which best helps nature to regain and maintain the activities of the organs by furnishing unimpeded blood and nerve supply. Osteopathy accomplishes this by placing the frame-work of bones, the skeleton, with its attached ligaments and muscles in such exact adjustment that there is nowhere any pressure or counter pressure to choke blood-vessels or paralyze nerves.

The underlying principle of osteopathy is mechanical adjustment.

Osteopathy deals with the body as an intricate machine which, if kept in proper adjustment, nourished and cared for, will run smoothly into a ripe and useful old age as long as the human machine is in order, like the locomotive it will perform the functions for which it was intended.

When every part of the machine is adjusted and in perfect harmony health holds dominion over the human organism by laws as natural and immutable as the law of gravitation. Osteopathy is a science which teaches that the human body is capable of producing within itself all substances necessary for the building and repairing of human tissues, provided there is no mechanical interference with the circulatory or nervous system. Correction of such mechanical interference permits a free flow of forces and nourishment of the parts, which restores normal tissues and re-establishes the harmony of conditions known as health.

The facts are simply incontrovertible. The man who was blind, and healed by our Lord had only one argument to offer, but that was irresistible. "This I know, whereas I was blind, now I see."

How the Right Quality Gasoline Keeps Battery Costs Low in Winter

A Common Cause of Battery Strain

Gasoline that does not vaporize readily at low temperature accounts for much battery trouble and expense in winter. Spinning a cold motor for several minutes before you can get started puts a big strain on the battery. This is not necessary if you are careful to select gasoline of suitable composition for winter use.

Why You Should Use Straight-Distilled Socony Gasoline

For satisfactory and economical operation, gasoline with a low boiling point—gasoline that vaporizes freely at low temperature—is absolutely necessary. Furthermore, it should contain a complete, continuous chain of boiling points, since that alone can insure quick, complete, powerful combustion.

Socony Meets the Tests

Socony gasoline meets all these requirements. With Socony you get quick starts, even in the coldest weather. This, combined with its absolute uniformity at all times and in all places, partly explains why experienced car owners and motor transport executives specify Socony. Other and important considerations are complete combustion, maximum power and mileage, freedom from excessive carbon accumulation and from heavy and offensive exhaust odors.

The Quality Gasoline

You can always rely upon every gallon of Socony gasoline for consistently fine quality.

Our manufacturing plants are operated under the most skillful and critical supervision. Back of the materials, equipment and methods of refining there are fifty years of practical experience and improvement.

Reliable, Obliging Dealers

Socony dealers constitute the last link in the great chain of Socony service. They are always dependable, competent and obliging—glad to render the little courtesies that make motor service complete. Look for the red, white and blue Socony sign.

MOTOR GASOLINE

Executive cost for battery charging and upkeep is not always due to grounds and short circuit. Gasoline that fails to vaporize freely at low temperature may easily be a principal cause. With Socony Motor Gasoline in the tank you can be sure of minimum battery strain—quick pick-up even when the motor is cold.

KINGSTON TEAM AGAIN PROPOSED

Kingston is to be represented by a first class baseball team this summer, according to the latest rumor, and a number of prominent men who are interested in this sport have already held a meeting to discuss the matter. According to the plans now made a team will be secured which will be able to go up against the best clubs in this vicinity. There is plenty of good baseball material in Kingston and if the men interested in the proposition are able to organize these men into a team Kingston will be represented by one of the classiest teams in this section of the state.

Further meetings will be held in the future when the plans will be thoroughly gone over and the matter of securing suitable grounds will be discussed. With a first class team in the field and a baseball park where a grand stand could be erected there is no reason why Kingston could not support a team.

What is a Weed?

According to Webster's International dictionary there are two definitions of a weed: 1. Wild growth in the nature of rank grass, undergrowth, or the like. 2. Any plant growing in cultivated ground to the injury of the crop or desired vegetation, or to the disfigurement of the place; an unsightly, useless, or imperious plant. The following note is added: A weed is a plant that is not wanted. There are, therefore, no species of weeds, for a plant that is a weed in one place may not be in another.

Wooden!

A woodpile is an unexpected legacy or money dropped as it were from the sky. The saying originated when the English nobility were forbidden by the terms of their estates to fell the timber, all the trees being reserved for the use of the royal navy. Such trees as were blown down, however, were exempted, hence a good wind often proved a veritable Godsend.

When Mrs. Orren Sheaffer, of San Francisco, saw death approaching she called her dearest friend, Mrs. Lillie Fowler, a widow, to her bedside and placing the woman's hand in that of her faithful husband, made the final request that upon her death Mrs. Fowler take her place as the wife of the man to whom she had been married for many years. Both the husband and Mrs. Fowler agreed and shortly after Mrs. Sheaffer's death they were married.

To Make Friend of Tons.

The tonsil is not looked upon with any great amount of favor by the average person, and is generally thought of as being "ugly," while the old boyhood superstition that holds the lowly hoper as responsible for warts still lingers in many adult minds. In reality, the tonsil is a peaceful, friendly little creature that can be trained in a very few minutes to be "pale" and after a week or so can be made an affectionate as a dog. They are cleaner than any furred animal and are exceedingly interesting as pets.

The Sabbath was intended for a day of rest, but misguided reformers would make it a day of arrest.—Midtown (Del.) New Era.

HOSE FIRED BY WATER FRICTION

Phenomenon Attends Tests Made of New Apparatus.

NEW ONE IN FIRE-FIGHTING

Rubber Tubing Burns Into Flame as Water Under High Pressure is Forced Through—Incident Arouses Country-wide Interest and Boston Commissioner is Receiving Requests for Information From all Parts of Country.

So much public interest has been aroused by the phenomenon developed in tests of fire hose in Boston when flames broke through cotton coating of the hose through which water was being forced at high pressure, that the fire commissioner, John R. Murphy, has been receiving requests for information from all over the country.

Ignition of a fire hose while water was being pumped through it though no fire was near, is something new to those who consider the fire-fighting business as a science. To determine the cause of this peculiar incident and ascertain how to avoid it, the Boston fire department will undertake a series of tests.

Caused by Friction.

Prof. Augustus H. Gill of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, at the request of Commissioner Murphy, examined the hose burned, and, without making a chemical analysis, reported his belief that the hose was ignited from excessive friction caused by vibration between two cotton jackets. The hose was of the new standard two and one-half inch rubber-lined, double cotton jacket type, made according to the specifications of the Boston fire department, which conform with those of the National Board of Underwriters.

A 750-gallon pumping engine was being tested under the direction of engineers of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and officials of the Boston fire department. For four hours the engine had drawn water from the Charles river basin when the order for the high pressure test was given.

Two lines of hose were used, one from each side of the engine, and each about 300 feet long. Horse gates were placed between the first and second length of each line and the gates were choked down to about one-third capacity, the gates on the engine outlets being similarly reduced.

Hose Burns Into Flame.

About fifteen minutes after the engine was started with a pump pressure of 250 pounds, smoke came from the hose about a foot from the coupling at the engine connection. Investigation showed that the hose was very hot and in a moment flame burst through the outer covering. Within a minute the same thing happened to the hose on the other side of the engine.

It was decided by the chiefs and experts that the choking down of the gates had resulted in a tremendous amount of water being forced through a small opening. The water in passing through the engine gate instead of filling the hose at the coupling was forced in at an angle, striking one side of the hose with a fine sharp point with sufficient force to generate heat.

This point of water, together with the friction caused by the two cotton jackets rubbing against each other, apparently caused the flame.

The fire did not injure the rubber lining, which was not even charred, the flames working entirely in the cotton mixture. This was scorched for several inches around the burned hole.

The conditions under which the engine was working when the hose ignited were declared to be such as would never occur while a fire was being fought, and for that reason the fire fighters have only a keen academic interest rather than serious thoughts of their hose burning during a fire unless it comes in contact with flames or sparks.

X-RAYS SHOW PLANE DEFECTS

Reveal Faults Otherwise Undetectable.

An up-to-the-minute application of X-rays is used in airplane construction to show up defective materials, workmanship and weak metal castings, which would otherwise escape the observation of an inspector, according to John S. Shearer of Cornell, in speaking in Philadelphia on "Recent Advances in the Production and Application of X-rays."

"Grains of wood in airplane parts are brought out remarkably," he said, "and it is easily discernible where two different woods have been joined together, a point of construction prohibited in airplane work. Knots in the wood are also shown up, as is unsatisfactory gluing together of parts."

"Electric heater coils are inspected by X-ray, and the planes show the manufacturer where the air has caused the insulation of the coil to disintegrate and where the wire eventually will break."

Japan Acts to Curtail Smugglers.

Following the discovery by the Japanese coast at Seattle, Wash., of hiding places constructed by crews in the holds of vessels, the police of Yokohama, Japan, were ordered strictly to inspect out-bound vessels for contraband.

Caution on Money.

Cautions are the common form of exchange among the natives of the Southwest. For instance, a lot of numbers in worth 20 coppers, while for needles the price is one copper each.

THE MOHICAN COMPANY

TARPON FAIL TO TEMPT HARDING

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Feb. 3.—Plans for the momentous day when he will become chief executive of the United States occupied a part of the attention of Warren G. Harding today. News from Washington of the attendance at a theater of President Wilson, it is understood, permitted the president-elect to outline with more certainty the schedule for his journey from the White House to the capitol and the return to the executive mansion for a luncheon with his predecessor. No doubt was expressed by members of the party today that President Wilson will be seated beside President Harding on that day. The president-elect left on the yacht Victoria today after having spent the night at an hotel near Fort Lauderdale. It is expected the Victoria will arrive at Palm Beach this afternoon. Mr. Harding will lunch at the home of Mrs. Theodore Frothingham and play 18 holes of golf before sailing again for the north.

George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to the best chief executive, was a marooned mariner yesterday on a deserted bar in Biscayne Bay for a time. The remainder of the Victoria's party motored to Fort Lauderdale for golf expecting to be picked up here by the boat. With Christian aboard the Victoria struck a sand bar about nine o'clock and Christian was forced to row ashore in a tender. He tramped around through unknown territory for some time before he reached a telephone to call for assistance. Word was finally sent from Three Friends, a small village and James Allison, of Miami Beach, responded to the "S. O. S." call with his yacht Lapache. In the meantime Mr. Harding and the remainder of the party were taken on board the Klyo, owned by Commodore Brooks of Sheepshead Bay, and went to meet the delayed craft which anchored for the night soon after dusk. A half dozen big tarpon were rolling and leaping in the water at Tarpon Bend as the president-elect passed that point but he decided to wait to try his luck. He was content, he said, to rest on his reputation as a fisherman on his luck at Coccolobo Bay.

Farmer relief measures have been successful. The government has decided that a man can drink his own hard cider.—Parkersburg News.

Over the grassy veldt lands of South Africa where the wild elephants roam it is possible to ride at full speed on a motorcycle. These veldt lands, however, are very isolated and riding the machine to them would be impossible. Major Jackson Allen, big game hunter recently demonstrated that there was no better way to hunt wild animals than to pack a motorcycle on the back of a dromedary and thus convey it to the veldt. Major Allen says chasing elephants on a motorcycle is the greatest sport in the world. The illustration shows Major Allen with his machine tied to the back of a tame elephant ready for a trip into the veldt.

MEMORY CONTEST
AT KEENEY'S

At both the afternoon and evening performances at the Keene Theatre on Friday and Saturday, the special Muller's orchestra will play three numbers that are to be found on the list of musical compositions which the young people of the city must be able to recognize to secure a prize in the coming musical memory contest. As the overture number, Mr. Keene will play on the organ the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's oratorio "The Messiah," and into the musical program of the performance will be interpolated "Narcissus" by Nevin, "To a Wild Rose" by Mac Dowell and "Mighty Lak" a Rose" by Nevin.

It is the purpose of Conductor Muller to play each week on Fridays and Saturdays until the time of the contest musical selections from the official list, especially such numbers as can best be rendered by the big organ and a good orchestra.

Safe Crackers Get $300.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Engines For Fleischmanns.

Herman Weeks of Fleischmanns has just purchased of the Canfield Supply Company, a Hercules gasoline engine for sawing wood and other farm work.

Starting Slips.

More house plants are grown from slips than from seeds. To do this take a branch half ripe and cut a slit three inches long. Take off all the leaves except the upper two and root it in water and several inches thick, putting one and one-half inches of the slip under the sand. Keep this thoroughly moist. When the roots begin to grow put your plant, with its sand, into a pot provided with other soil. Some slips, such as clematis and ivy, will root in water.

The entire transfer saved young Garnett's life.

N. Y. TO GET THE BIG FIGHTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 3.—Lill' ole New York is going to get the Dempsey-Carpenter scrap after all!

It is also going to get the Dempsey-Willard knucklefest, providing Dempsey still is champion after he meets Carpenter.

These announcements were made today by Promoter Tex Rickard, who plans to build an open air arena in or near New York for the staging of the international battle July 2 and the winner of this bout and Willard on Labor Day.

Rickard has stated most of his big fights in the open and he believes that even with a limit of $15 for a championship bout he will be able to promote the Dempsey-Carpenter bout successfully.

The Dempsey-Willard match has been simply set ahead. Rickard said that both boxers were willing to go through with the original match on March 17, had he insisted on it, though Willard's sudden departure from this neighborhood and Jack Kearns' assertion that Jess had "run out of the match" have left a suspicion that the match did not look alluring to Willard who would have to gamble with Rickard on the gate it would draw in the "garden."

Rickard is expected to announce a site for the big arena within a week or two and he expects to have it ready for the staging of outdoor bouts just as soon as the weather will permit. This plan will be followed to the letter unless unforeseen happenings block it.

The Stout Woman Can Save The Entire Price of a Corset by buying One of the New Nemo Self-Reducing Corsets at $5.00 They are Built To Last As Long As Two Corsets of Average Make

The Nemo Self-Reducing Corset is made to stand the wear which the stout figure must necessarily give it. The Self-Reducing Straps—simple in construction—yet scientific and most successful in result—retain their usefulness throughout the entire life of the corset. The corset itself must fit well, wear well and retain its shape in order that the hygienic features may perform their functions to the best advantage. So one is dependent on the other—and each is constructed for greater wearing service.

No Custom-Made Corset Is Made With As Great Skill and Care As the Nemo Self-Reducing Models

Yet the price is no higher than for any ordinary corset—not approaching the Nemo in quality or service.
